Dear Elmo and Mrs. Roper:

When I had the pleasure of seeing you at the party the other evening I overlooked thanking you for your lovely "Happiness" book, which I have enjoyed immensely. The captions are very appropriate and the illustrations are enchanting. Both Edith and I have been much amused by the little book. Ever so many thanks again for your thought of me and for your good wishes, which brought me so much pleasure.

We were happy that you could celebrate with us on the 27th, and look forward to seeing you soon. In the meanwhile, warm greetings from us both.

Yours very sincerely,
